Prescribed Firelighter and Wildland Firefighter Training

Learn the fundamentals of prescribed fire lighting and wildland firefighting during this hands on, one-day field training (choose 1 of the 3 workshop locations). This training will give you the building blocks to be a safe and effective participant in local Rx burns. By the end of the training, you will be prepared to participate in local, cooperative burns hosted by the new Central Coast Prescribed Burn Association (calpba.org). Skills acquired at the training include fire line construction, fire line communications, prescribed fire ignitions, operation of a firefighting pump, installation of a hose-lay and more. In addition, the one-day training can certify you as a Basic Wildland Firefighter 2 (NWCG FFT2), with pre-completion of online coursework plus an “Arduous pack-test” prior to attending the in-person field day (note: online course work is not necessary if you will not be seeking a FFT2 cert). Let us know if you are interested.

California Envirothon Is Going Virtual

The Envirothon is an environmental problem-solving, team-building, and leadership experience for high school students. This year, the competition will be taking place online on March 13 and 20. Student teams are tested on five topics: soils, aquatic, wildlife, forestry, and a "current issue," which for 2021 is groundwater. This is a great opportunity for young people to have positive experiences with environmental sciences; please spread the word with your local schools. RCDs can also volunteer as judges, breakout room monitors, and graders. Please reach out to RCD of the Santa Monica Mountains Board Member Nancy Helsley with any questions. Capitol Ag Day 2021 Workshop March 23, 2021 9:00 – 11:45

Grassroots advocacy has been at the very core of Farm Bureau since its beginning, so it's appropriate that our annual springtime leaders meeting has been renamed the Capitol AG Conference. AG stands for "advocacy" and "grassroots," and that is just what Farm Bureau leaders from throughout California will bring to the state Capitol.

Farm Bureau is privileged to have skilled professional advocates to represent our members in the Legislature, Congress, the courts and the media. But they will tell you that no one speaks on behalf of California agriculture better than the state's family farmers and ranchers themselves.

This year we will meet virtually with elected representatives to stress the role state legislation can play in securing California's role as the nation's No. 1 agricultural state—or in undermining that role.

Legislators need to hear directly from farmers and ranchers about the challenges they face—but also about positive actions state government can take to make California more business-friendly.
